

Lee Foster Wins Travel Journalism Gold Award for Column/Blog

By Lee Foster

I am happy to report that my Column/Blog on www.fostertravel.com won the Gold Award in the annual writing award competition of the Society of American Travel Writers (SATW) Western Chapter.

The awards were announced at the annual meeting of SATW Western Chapter, this year in Brno, Czech Republic, on 5-12-18.

The competition in this category (1 of 10 categories) was open to Columns/Blogs in magazines, newspapers, and websites.

My win was specifically for a blog/column on the developing travel scene in Portland, Oregon, as I described its “makers” movement. See this at

Portland, City of Makers

I also updated an earlier, broad Portland coverage at

Several sample Columns/Blogs were required, so my other entries were:

The December Holidays/Christmas in San Francisco, from 12-15-17
